How does it work?

The user downloads and installs an application to their handset. Upon activating this application, the user is automatically directed to the okemob portal where they can browse through an extensive library of content.

After selecting an item, the content is streamed to the user's handset and begins playing as soon as it has been buffered. The track is automatically saved to the user's handset and may be viewed again at leisure.

With a large variety of genres and a huge, ever expanding catalogue of tracks, okemob offers the ultimate in personal entertainment!
